TRUMAN, AIDES SILENT AFTER LONG MEETING

No Government Plan To Halt Rising Cost Of Living Made At Session

WASHINGTON, April 9—President Truman held a full-dress discussion of the nation's economy with his cabinet today, but no immediate government action to halt the rise of high prices was decided upon.

The chief executive held a special meeting with his official family and special economic advisers for an hour and 40 minutes.

The announced purpose of the meeting was to explore the problem of rising high prices. Afterward, however, the White House stated that "no conclusions were arrived at."

The cabinet heard discussions of the nation's economic situation by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's economic advisory council, and by Marriner Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, and budget director Webb.

Cabinet members declined to discuss the meeting afterward. White House Secretary Charles G. Ross gave a negative account of the results of the cabinet session.

He said: "The purpose of the meeting was to get information. No conclusions were arrived at. It was just a lot of talk back and forth."

"No plan of action was laid down at all. No effort was made to reach a consensus."

"IT WAS an exchange of views and a seminar on economics. It (Continued on Page Two)

17 MEN SWORN IN AS MEMBERS OF COMPANY I

Seventeen members of Company I, Circleville unit of the Ohio National Guard, were sworn in Tuesday night by Captain Jack Clifton.

At another meeting of the company Thursday night physical examinations will be held and more men sworn in. Capt. Clifton is urging enlistment of more 18-year-old youths in the company.

The captain also announced the selection of another first lieutenant, John McGinnis.

As soon as the quota of 24 men is reached federal inspection of the unit will be held and equipment issued by the government.

Princess Catherine of Greece is getting a $40,000 dowry for her marriage. Spread over all us taxpayers it doesn't come to much.

But it would be a nice gesture if in return for aid to Greece we each got a piece of wedding cake.

Anyhow we can now appreciate the desperate situation of the Greek people—it probably moves the parliament to give bread instead of baubles.

Somehow no matter how hungry people get there's always cake for royalty.

Anyhow the beauty culturists are doing something about our taxes. They want the treasury to grant each woman an $85 exemption for personal repairs.

Future beauties will be known as "the girl with the $85 look."

Durocher Suspended For 1947 Baseball Season By 'Happy' Chandler

CINCINNATI, April 9—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler suspended Leo "Lippy" Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, from organized baseball for the entire 1947 season today.

In addition, he suspended Charley Dressen, coach of the New York Yankees for 30 days, fined the Dodgers and Yankees $2,000 each, ordered suspension of Durocher's newspaper column and fined its ghost writer and administered a severe dressing down to Larry MacPhail, owner of the Yankees.

Chandler ruled that the Brooklyn manager, center of heated controversy for many months, had been guilty of conduct "detrimental to baseball."

The commissioner declared: "Durocher has not measured up to the standards expected or required of the managers of our baseball teams."

"As a result of the accumulation of unpleasant incidents in which he has been involved which the commissioner construes as detrimental to baseball, Manager Durocher is hereby suspended from participating in 1947 season."

Dressen's suspension is effective April 15. Chandler said that evidence presented at the hearing he conducted in Sarasota, Fla., on March 24 proved that "Dressen allowed Branch Rickey, his former employer, to labor under a misapprehension as to what action he (Dressen) would take with respect to his 1947 contract."

The commissioner added that he was convinced that Dressen (Continued on Page Two)

MARTIN URGES CAUTION ON AID

Solon Would Condition Help To Balkans On British Palestine Plans

WASHINGTON, April 9—Sen. Martin (R) Pa., demanded today that U. S. aid to Greece and Turkey be conditioned upon a "hard-boiled" attitude on British policy in Palestine and "sacrifices" in America's own domestic expenditures.

The former Pennsylvania governor warned "the folks back home" that the United States cannot send billions abroad without curtailing federal spending in this country.

He told the senate: "Otherwise we will head down the road taken by Britain... we cannot help others, if we destroy ourselves."

MARTIN made it clear he was not opposing President Truman's 400 million dollar program to (Continued on Page Two)

COLUMBUS PICKETING REPORTED PEACEFUL

COLUMBUS, O., April 9—Police were sent to the Columbus offices of the Ohio Bell Telephone company today when approximately 250 strikers began mass picketing, but no disorders were reported.

Pickets mostly confined their activities to shouting "scab" at some 50 workers who crossed the picket lines. The mass picket line began to disband shortly after the 8 a. m. shift change.

TRAINS SIDESWIPE

CANTON, O., April 9—Two hundred and fifty passengers proceeded to their destinations today after escaping unscathed when the Pennsylvania railroad's Manhattan Limited sideswiped a freight train last night.

DENNIS DEFIES SUBPENA ISSUED BY COMMITTEE

Communist Leader Faces Contempt Charge By Un-American Group

WASHINGTON, April 9—The house un-American activities committee today cited Eugene Dennis, secretary general of the American Communist party for contempt of congress.

The citation was voted when Dennis ignored a subpoena ordering him to appear before the committee to explain workings of the Communist machine in the United States.

By unanimous vote, the committee also initiated contempt proceedings against Dennis, Gerhardt Eisler, and Leon Josephson. Both Eisler and Josephson, also Communist leaders, had defied the house group.

Under the conspiracy charge each of the Communist officials faces a possible penalty of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine. The simple contempt charge carries a penalty of one year imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

REP. NIXON (R) Calif., declared action of the three red leaders was "group contempt planned in advance."

Rep. Mundt (R) S. D., declared the defiance of the committee was part of established Communist technique.

Dennis, although not responding to his name when called in the crowded committee room, presented a statement to the committee by means of an emissary, Daniel Lapidus, a New York attorney.

In his statement, Dennis flatly declared he would not make an appearance before the committee and challenged the legality of the committee as one which could not "lawfully subpoena witnesses to appear before it."

The Communist leader's message to the committee was similar in tone and argument to statements made by other Communist leader who previously refused to appear.

MAN WORTH ONLY $31 TO WOMAN AT AUCTION SALE

CLEVELAND, April 9—Deflate yourselves, men. You're worth no more than $31 to a woman.

At least that's the amount paid by a member of the Women's Advertising Club of Cleveland for the right to own, temporarily at least, a prominent young business executive, auctioned off yesterday at the group's meeting.

Miss Betty Kardos, director of the costume school of design, paid the right smart sum for M. J. Kobitz, Jr., of suburban Shaker Heights, billed as "single, a good dancer, a great conversationalist and a man whose hobby is women."

More than 50 other items were auctioned to the 110 women with the proceeds going to Sunny Acres sanitarium.

COURT ACTION LOOMS

CINCINNATI, O., April 9—Possible court action loomed today in an effort to force parents to send their striking children back to the North College Hill elementary school. Leo G. Harrison, president of the North College Hill board of education, had warned that if the children did not return to their classes when the Easter vacation ended he would get busy on action to cite their parents to juvenile court.

MARSHALL ASKS FRONTIER STUDY

Big 4 Hears American Plan To Settle Polish Claims To German Area

MOSCOW, April 9—Secretary of State Marshall proposed today that a multi-nation boundary commission be established to determine the post-war frontiers of Poland.

The proposal was made to the Big Four council of foreign ministers in a statement of the United States position toward former German territory now under the control of Poland.

Marshall proposed that the commission be composed of representatives of Russia, Britain, the U. S., France, Poland and "a convenient number of other allied states designated by the council of foreign ministers."

The secretary of state emphasized the desire of America to see that Poland gets fair compensation for its cession of territory east of the Curzon line to Germany.

But Marshall stressed that final settlement of the Polish-German border should "interest Europe as a whole."

Declaring himself in favor of fair compensation to Poland, Marshall emphasized that any agreement must assure proper distribution of resources of territories affected to the benefit of European economy.

He said the U. S. will accept an arrangement under which southern east Prussia would become Polish territory and added:

"German Upper Silesia and its industrial complex should also become Polish. But there should be provisions to assure that its coal and other resources will be available to sustain the economy of Europe."

"The division of the remaining territory, which is largely agricultural land, requires consideration of the needs of the Polish and German peoples and of Europe as a whole."

RUSSIAN VETO ON CORFU ISSUE FACED BY UN

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 9—The United Nations faces the prospect today of another Russian veto in Britain's demand that the security council refer the Corfu channel case to the world court.

At their meeting this afternoon, the eleven council delegates will begin a debate on whether Albania should be hauled before the international court of justice at The Hague to determine her guilt or innocence in the mining of the Corfu channel last year.

On March 25, the security council voted by a majority of seven that the Albanian regime had knowledge of the floating mines which severely damaged two British destroyers and killed 44 sailors.

TO RENEW FIGHT

WASHINGTON, April 9—John L. Lewis served notice today that he will renew his demand for a 10-cents-per-ton welfare fund when he resumes bargaining with the coal mine operators in June.

Weary Detroit supervisor, who's on the job until the strike is over, naps on emergency cot.

Chicago pickets fear girl who crosses line.

It's "business as usual" on Capitol board.

WHILE CONCILIATORS in Washington, D. C., continue their efforts to bring the National Federation of Telephone Workers representatives and the Bell Telephone company management to agreement over the union's $12-a-week pay boost demand, nearly 300,000 employees have left switchboards across the nation—with one exception—that of the board on Capitol Hill in Washington.

Second Body Located In Junk-Filled Collyer Home

NEW YORK, April 9—The mystery surrounding the deaths of Homer and Langley Collyer who had lived as hermits in their Fifth avenue junk-filled house for nearly 40 years was only partially dissipated today by the discovery of Langley's body.

Police found the body of the 61-year-old recluse on the second floor of the house. Apparently he had died about three weeks ago and before his blind and partially paralyzed brother had died.

Langley was found in a tunnel which he had constructed in the debris filled house. His body was crushed by one of the "booby traps" he had installed to protect him and his brother from robbers and intruders.

Homer's body was discovered March 21, and one of the major mysteries was who phoned police "that there was a dead man at 2078 Fifth avenue," the Collyer home.

Police were convinced Langley's body would be found in the house and with the authority of the public prosecutor began removing more than 100 tons of junk, debris and filth from the three-story house.

Their work was rewarded late

STORE REDUCES MOST PRICES BY 10 PERCENT

CINCINNATI, O., April 9—A 10 per cent rollback in all prices because "you think prices are too high and so do we," was announced today by Jenny's, prominent Cincinnati specialty shop.

In full-page advertisements in Cincinnati newspapers, Jenny's pointed out that "this is no sale or clearance, but a policy." The ads continued: "This rollback of prices is applicable to Summer merchandise as well as Spring apparel. There is no need for you to rush in to have the advantages of this new policy because it will be continued as long as we feel that the need for a price rollback exists."

POSSIBILITY OF STEEL STRIKE FACES INDUSTRY

PITTSBURGH, April 9—Possibility of a nationwide steel strike loomed in Pittsburgh unless members of "big-steel" and the United Steel Workers reach contract agreements by April 30.

This was indicated today when the USW disclosed the union's executive board is scheduled to meet April 19 and 20 and the wage policy committee April 21, to discuss the present negotiations with the steel industry.

A high ranking official in the union said steel workers' president Philip Murray may call the wage-policy committee into session next week to make the decision.

The union official, who declined use of his name, said negotiations with U. S. Steel have failed to produce a single demand. The union has listed 14 demands which include a "substantial" wage increase, welfare fund, vacations and a security plan.

'TOUGH' LAW DRAFTED

WASHINGTON, April 9—Rep. Hartley (R) N. J., chairman of the house labor committee, said today that a draft of a "tough" labor bill, including provisions banning the closed shop and industry-wide bargaining, has been received favorably by Republican leaders.

KING CHRISTIAN WORSE

COPENHAGEN, April 9—The condition of King Christian X of Denmark grew worse today and penicillin treatments were begun amid fears that pulmonary troubles might complicate the weakness of his heart.

LATIN - AMERICA STUDY EXPECTED

Marshall Slated To Make Re-Survey Of Relations With Neighbors

WASHINGTON, April 9—Secretary of State George C. Marshall today was expected to make a thorough re-survey of United States policy in Latin-America following his return from Moscow.

Some observers have believed that there has been a crying need to straighten out the Latin-American problem, complicated by the attitude toward the regime of President Juan Peron in Argentina.

Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (R) Mich., chairman of the foreign relations committee, whose voice is highly persuasive with the state department, has already indicated that he believes the "good neighbor" policy should be further emphasized in the future.

One of the first problems Marshall is expected to tackle is that of holding the Rio De Janeiro conference of foreign ministers, now delayed more than a year.

It was believed that he might seek to make this conference coincidental with the Bogota conference of American states, also due to be held this year. This meeting originally had been scheduled for 1946.

FRENCHMEN OF 1947 CLASS CALLED TO ARMY SERVICE

PARIS, April 9—The French council of ministers decided today to call to the colors on May 15 all men of the 1947 class.

The step was taken at the war ministry's recommendation and was ascribed by the Paris press to troubles in the colonies.

MAY CALL IN MINERS

BELLAIRE, O., April 8—Striking Bellaire retail store clerks threatened today to call in miners to assist them on picket lines unless their demands for pay increases are met.

UNION, COMPANY AGREE TO TALK OVER TROUBLES

Early Settlement Of Long Lines Dispute May Break Strike

WASHINGTON, April 9—Edgar L. Warren, government labor conciliator, told congress today "I am hopeful of an early end to the telephone strike, particularly in the case of long lines service."

Warren made the statement before a senate appropriations subcommittee as settlement of the long distance phase of the nationwide walkout, setting a pattern for the entire industry, was reported near completion.

Both long lines union and management have agreed to submit the main points at issue to arbitration.

Government negotiators disclosed that during the last 48 hours of intensive negotiations a contract has been drawn up setting "50 to 60 disputed issues."

THE NEGOTIATORS said that other points at issue, including the $12 weekly wage increase demand are to be submitted to arbitration by consent of both union and management.

It was pointed out that a long lines agreement last year blue-printed a settlement for the entire American Telephone and Telegraph and Bell system dispute.

Government officials said an agreement in the long-distance situation must be submitted to the policy committee of the National Federation of Telephone Workers for approval.

It was disclosed that the only question remaining unsettled is a difference of opinion over the number of arbitrators to be used.

The company asked for three arbitrators and the union insisted upon only one.

However, that union said it would consent to a three-man arbitration board if the company will grant permission for a checkoff of assessments against the membership.

SENATE FIGHT ON LILIENTHAL NEAR WINDUP

WASHINGTON, April 9—The senate today moved into a final windup of the David E. Lilienthal nomination fight.

By agreement, the vote on confirmation of Lilienthal as the nation's atomic chief was set for 5 p. m., to be followed immediately by votes on the five other atomic appointees.

Little debate was expected. Lilienthal's senate foes conceded that his confirmation was certain, probably by a plurality somewhat larger than in the 52 to 38 vote on recommitment.

It was predicted that several, who wanted further information and voted for recommitment, will vote for Lilienthal.

None of the other nominees has been seriously challenged. Sen. Johnson (D) Col., joined Sen. John W. Bricker (R) Ohio, in a committee vote against the commission's general manager, Carroll L. Wilson, and Sumner T. Pike, former securities and exchange commission member, appointed by President Truman as a member of the atomic commission.

MOUNT CLEMENS POTTERY PORTAL SUIT DISMISSED

CINCINNATI, O., April 9—The famous Mount Clemens pottery company's portal-to-portal pay suit was at an end today.

The sixth federal circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati dismissed an employees' appeal from an adverse lower court decision. The lower decision was a ruling by Federal Judge Frank A. Picard of Detroit that the amount was trivial.

The appellate court dismissed the case "with prejudice" meaning the suit is out of the courts forever.

UNION, COMPANY AGREE TO TALK OVER TROUBLES

Early Settlement Of Long Lines Dispute May Break Strike

WASHINGTON, April 9 — Edgar L. Warren, government labor conciliator, told congress today "I am hopeful of an early end to the telephone strike, particularly in the case of long lines service."

Warren made the statement before a senate appropriations subcommittee as settlement of the long distance phase of the nationwide walkout, setting a pattern for the entire industry, was reported near completion.

Both long lines union and management have agreed to submit the main points at issue to arbitration.

Government negotiators disclosed that during the last 48 hours of intensive negotiations a contract has been drawn up setting "50 to 60 disputed issues."

THE NEGOTIATORS said that other points at issue, including the $12 weekly wage increase demand are to be submitted to arbitration by consent of both union and management.

It was pointed out that a long lines agreement last year blue-printed a settlement for the entire American Telephone and Telegraph and Bell system dispute.

Government officials said an agreement in the long-distance situation must be submitted to the policy committee of the National Federation of Telephone Workers for approval.

It was disclosed that the only question remaining unsettled is a difference of opinion over the number of arbitrators to be used.

The company asked for three arbitrators and the union insisted upon only one.

However, that union said it would consent to a three-man arbitration board if the company will grant permission for a checkoff of assessments against the membership.

SENATE FIGHT ON LILIENTHAL NEAR WINDUP

WASHINGTON, April 9 — The senate today moved into a final windup of the David E. Lilienthal nomination fight.

By agreement, the vote on confirmation of Lilienthal as the nation's atomic chief was set for 5 p. m., to be followed immediately by votes on the five other atomic appointees.

Little debate was expected. Lilienthal's senate foes conceded that his confirmation was certain, probably by a plurality somewhat larger than in the 52 to 38 test vote on recommitment.

It was predicted that several, who wanted further information and voted for recommitment, will vote for Lilienthal.

None of the other nominees has been seriously challenged. Sen. Johnson (D) Col., joined Sen. John W. Bricker (R) Ohio, in a committee vote against the commission's general manager, Carroll L. Wilson, and Sumner T. Pike, former securities and exchange commission member, appointed by President Truman as a member of the atomic commission.

MOUNT CLEMENS POTTERY PORTAL SUIT DISMISSED

CINCINNATI, O., April 9—The famous Mount Clemens pottery company's portal-to-portal pay suit was at an end today.

The sixth federal circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati dismissed an employees' appeal from an adverse lower court decision. The lower decision was a ruling by Federal Judge Frank A. Picard of Detroit that the amount was trivial.

The appellate court dismissed the case "with prejudice" meaning the suit is out of the courts forever.

OHIO ASSEMBLY HAS BUSIEST DAY OF SESSION

House Committees Try To Cut Budget; Soldier Bonus Gets Attention

COLUMBUS, O., April 9—The biggest day of the year loomed for Ohio legislative committees today.

In the house, the finance committee goes to work tonight on cutting up to 32 millions from the 532-million-dollar budget of Governor Herbert.

The education committee starts hearings on the 90-million dollar Daniels-Cramer school bill, with the avowed intention of slashing ten millions from it.

Taxation committees of both houses meanwhile considered bills to aid local governments. The senate group takes up the Reiners-Brooks omnibus aid bill, which would:

1. Return to local governments 13 millions a year in intangible taxes;
2. Return to local subdivisions the state's present one-half share of cigarette dealers license taxes, amounting to about a half-million dollars annually;
3. Permit cities to levy taxes on consumers' gas, light and phone bills, and
4. Repeal the state amusement tax so cities may enter that field.

THE HOUSE taxation committee concentrated its deliberation on the Marshall bill to authorize cities to levy a tax on consumers' utility bills.

The senate military affairs committee will receive and consider the report of its subcommittee, proposing a maximum soldier bonus of $350, based on $10 for each month's service between Pearl Harbor and V-J days. A conservation subcommittee meanwhile starts work on a compromise bill to regulate strip mining.

On the floor this afternoon, the house will take up the Kowalk bill liberalizing the restrictions on the employment of women and miners, while the senate considers the Addison bill to permit cities to condemn land for off-street parking and a house-approved measure to appropriate nearly four million dollars to several state departments for emergency improvements.

THE HOUSE received another hot potato from the senate as the upper chamber passed, 23-10, the Reiners bill cutting some 25 million dollars a year from employers' contributions to the jobless pay fund.

However, an emergency clause making the cut immediately effective lost when six Republicans joined the four senate Democrats in voting against the clause and the bill. Twenty-four votes, a two-thirds majority, are necessary to carry an emergency clause.

The Republicans voting against the bill were Sens. Hildebrand and Cramer, Toledo, Persky and Corlett, Cleveland, Mason, East Liverpool and McCandless, Hamilton.

Some 500 labor supporters jamming the galleries were chided several times by Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert for outbursts of applause when the bill was under attack by Sen. Howard Metzbaum (D-Cleveland).

"Applause will not change a single vote," Herbert reminded the galleries. "You will have an election coming to demonstrate your feelings."

Sen. Fred Reiners (R-Cincinnati) explained that the jobless pay fund has grown to a half-billion dollars since jobless pay was instituted in 1939, although payments in that time totaled only 155 millions.

Even with the cut proposed in his bill, Reiners said, the fund will grow to 525 millions this year.

"stop Communism" in Greece and Turkey.

But he called for an "inventory of our financial condition" and a public airing of "all the answers" on U. S. foreign commitments to get away from what he called "fuzzy diplomacy" of past years.

Martin's speech was his first expression on foreign policy since coming to the senate. The former general of World Wars I and II said the Greco-Turkish program must be considered "not as an isolated plan but as a tile in a large mosaic."

He criticized America's failure to be "tough-minded" during the war by laying down conditions for U. S. lend-lease and demanded a clear understanding on British commitments in Palestine.

The senator said:

"SO FAR as I am concerned, there is no time like the present for being hard-boiled and for having a clear understanding. If we are going to be soft-brained and merely let ourselves be swept along, we are due for another round of regrets and recriminations. I do hope we have learned our lesson.

"This is a good time for the British to make clear once and for all their attitude on Palestine. It is a good time to let them know that America expects them to comply with their solemn obligations as set forth in the Balfour declaration of 1917 and the Anglo-American treaty of 1924."

JAYCEES PLAN CAMPING TRIP FOR TOP SCOUT

Pickaway county's most outstanding Boy Scout will be the recipient of a two-week camping experience at Camp Lazarus during the approaching summer.

At a meeting held Tuesday night the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce decided to act as the sponsor for an annual award to the county's foremost Boy Scout and the trip to Camp Lazarus will be a gift to the lad selected.

Under preliminary plans made known Wednesday each Boy Scout troop in the Pickaway district will be permitted to enter two contenders for the camping award.

The final judging will be by a group of business men and the annual scout camporee chairman will be A. E. Wagar. Complete rules for the contest will be made public at a later date.

An eight-month-old Jersey heifer owned by Donald Kempton, of near Williamsport, is among 80 selected Jersey females to be sold at the annual heifer sale of the Ohio Jersey Breeders' Association, starting at noon Saturday at the Delaware county fairgrounds at Delaware, it was announced Wednesday.

The Kempton heifer is a daughter of Royalist Design Jolly Molly 1459609 which has been on official H.I.R. test and has produced 859 pounds of milk testing 6 per cent and 51.5 pounds of butterfat in one month as a two-year-old on twice-a-day milking. She will produce around 400 pounds of butterfat in 305 days. The sire of the heifer is Sultane Rosy Heir, three-star herd sire at the present time. This heifer was dropped Aug. 8, 1946.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY TO BE GIVEN THURSDAY

Final plans and arrangements for the Junior class play of Circleville high school are rapidly coming to a period of perfection. "Seven Sisters," a comedy in three acts written by Edith Ellis will be presented in the school auditorium Thursday and Friday evenings. E. P. Hamlyn, speech and dramatics instructor is coaching the cast.

Characters taking part in the play include, Lucille Stambaugh, Betty Watson, Jeanne Spangler, Jean Hall, Rosalie Bartholemew, Wanda Young, Patty Quincell, Opal Kerby, Bob Johnson, Bob Boggs, Bob Huffer, Don Beck, Jack Pettit and Paul Smallwood.

The Junior class play is one of the year's outstanding events on the school calendar.

GREEKS LAUNCH BIG OFFENSIVE AGAINST REBELS

ATHENS, April 9—The Greek government launched a large-scale offensive today against guerrillas in Thessaly and western Macedonia.

In a determined effort to crush the rebels, units of the Greek army, navy and airforce were thrown into action.

(The London Daily Graphic reported that the Greek navy commenced landing operations at the gulf of Volos, in southern Thessaly.)

General Yatzis, commanding the army of northern Greece, issued a special order of the day in connection with the offensive. In the bulletin, he appealed to the forces under his command to fight "to save the country."

DRIVER ARRESTED AFTER AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE

After a collision of two automobiles at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday at the intersection of East Mound and South Pickaway streets, Patrolman Alva Shasteen arrested J. R. Gallagher, 60, salesman, Chillicothe, on a charge of failure to observe a stop sign. Gallagher was released under $10 bond to await a hearing set for 8 p. m. Wednesday before Mayor Ben H. Gordon.

The police report says that a sedan driven west on East Mound street by Mrs. Mary Ellen McFarland, 22, of 354 East Mound street, was struck by a coupe operated north on South Pickaway street by Gallagher. No one was hurt, the police reports says, but both cars were damaged.

finer, that it has "usurped police authority without any basis in law and has assumed the powers of a criminal court without regard to the obligations of the laws protection."

Robert Stripling, the committee's chief investigator, told the group that the reason Dennis refused to testify was because he was "engaged in a campaign to overthrow the government."

Stripling added he feared to testify because of this and cited a similar reluctance to testify by Gerhard Eisler, alleged number one Communist in the United States, and other key Communists.

Stripling recommended to the committee that attorney general Clark be asked to prosecute Dennis on the more serious charge.

FIREMAN'S WIFE TOO EXCITED TO PLACE FIRE CALL

AKRON, O., April 9—The wife of an Akron fireman today blamed her excitement for failure to place telephone call reporting a blaze which destroyed her nearby Northampton township home.

Mrs. N. J. Ball said that when she dialed the operator and asked for the fire department, the operator replied that only emergency calls could be placed.

"I was too excited to explain to the operator that I wanted to report a fire," Mrs. Ball said.

Suburban Cuyahoga Falls firemen responded to a radio call by Carl Walters, superintendent of lights in the Falls, who saw the blaze. However, they were unable to save the house. The loss was placed at $5,000.

An Ohio Bell telephone company spokesman said two calls about the blaze were placed by an operator.

SHIPS COLLIDE OFF VIRGINIA COAST IN FOG

NEW YORK, April 9 — Coast Guard headquarters in New York reported today that the SS American Farmer, an 8,258-ton vessel, and the Pittsburgh Seam, a 6,643 ton ship, collided at sea in the fog about 32 miles northeast of Cape Henry, Va.

Damage details were not available immediately.

Three Coast Guard cutters put to sea immediately. In addition a motor life boat also is enroute, and a PBM from the Elizabeth City, N. C., Coast Guard station took off to aid in rescue attempts.

The American Farmer, which was involved in another collision off the British coast last summer and became the storm center of a salvage row, is owned by the U. S. lines and was enroute from New York to Norfolk. It has a normal crew of 66 men.

The Pittsburgh Seam, owned by the Eastern Gas and Fuel associates, Boston, was enroute from New York to Baltimore. Its normal crew is 44 men.

ATHENS, April 9.—The Greek government launched a large-scale offensive today against guerrillas in Thessaly and western Macedonia.

In a determined effort to crush the rebels, units of the Greek army, navy and airforce were thrown into action.

(The London Daily Graphic reported that the Greek navy commenced landing operations at the gulf of Volos, in southern Thessaly.)

General Yatzis, commanding the army of northern Greece, issued a special order of the day in connection with the offensive.

In the bulletin, he appealed to the forces under his command to fight "to save the country."

DRIVER ARRESTED AFTER AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE

After a collision of two automobiles at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday at the intersection of East Mound and South Pickaway streets, Patrolman Alva Shasteen arrested J. R. Gallagher, 60, salesman, Chillicothe, on a charge of failure to observe a stop sign.

Gallagher was released under $10 bond to await a hearing set for 8 p. m. Wednesday before Mayor Ben H. Gordon.

The police report says that a sedan driven west on East Mound street by Mrs. Mary Ellen McFarland, 22, of 354 East Mound street, was struck by a coupe operated north on South Pickaway street by Gallagher.

No one was hurt, the police reports says, but both cars were damaged.

finer, that it has "usurped police authority without any basis in law and has assumed the powers of a criminal court without regard to the obligations of the laws protection."

Robert Stripling, the committee's chief investigator, told the group that the reason Dennis refused to testify was because he was "engaged in a campaign to overthrow the government."

Stripling added he feared to testify because of this and cited a similar reluctance to testify by Gerhard Eisler, alleged number one Communist in the United States, and other key Communists.

THE INVESTIGATOR said Dennis was guilty of contempt of congress, which is punishable by one year imprisonment and $1,000 fine, and "the more serious crime of conspiracy to commit contempt of congress which is punishable by two years imprisonment and $10,000 fine."

Stripling recommended to the committee that attorney general Clark be asked to prosecute Dennis on the more serious charge.

FIREMAN'S WIFE TOO EXCITED TO PLACE FIRE CALL

AKRON, O., April 9.—The wife of an Akron fireman today blamed her excitement for failure to place telephone call reporting a blaze which destroyed her nearby Northampton township home.

Mrs. N. J. Ball said that when she dialed the operator and asked for the fire department, the operator replied that only emergency calls could be placed.

"I was too excited to explain to the operator that I wanted to report a fire," Mrs. Ball said.

Suburban Cuyahoga Falls firemen responded to a radio call by Carl Walters, superintendent of lights in the Falls, who saw the blaze. However, they were unable to save the house. The loss was placed at $5,000.

An Ohio Bell telephone company spokesman said two calls about the blaze were placed by an operator.

Durocher Suspended For 1947 Baseball Season By 'Happy' Chandler

had agreed to remain two more years as a coach of the Dodgers although a formal contract had not been signed.

The Yankees and Dodgers were fined because "their officials engaged in a public controversy damaging to baseball."

CHANDLER ordered the immediate suspension of the newspaper column appearing under Durocher's name but written by Harold Parrot. He fined Parrot $500 for writing "a deliberately derogatory column about others in baseball and for violating the commissioner's order of silence" following the Sarasota hearing.

The commissioner cleared MacPhail of accusations that alleged gamblers were his guests in a box at a game in Havana. He also said that evidence showed that MacPhail did not offer Durocher a job as manager of the Yankees for the 1947 season.

Chandler declared that statements quoting the manager of the Bums as saying he had been offered a job with the New York American League club were untrue.

However, the commissioner added: "MacPhail admitted refraining from announcing the signing of his manager to give Durocher an opportunity to negotiate a better contract with Rickey."

"This could not be considered an act designed to engender a friendly feeling between two major league clubs and the commissioner will not expect its repetition in the future."

Chandler further ordered complete silence in the future by all individuals who engaged in the long and heated controversy. He said that he himself would have no further comment. He explained:

"BASEBALL rules especially provide that disputes in baseball between club owners, managers and players are to be referred to the commissioner's office for settlement."

"Such controversies as this are definitely damaging to baseball and while no individual is responsible for what sports writers or others might report in the public press, it is not expected that baseball folks will, in the future, do anything that would encourage such a controversy as this one."

However, Chandler cleared the Yankee owner of charges that gamblers had been his guests at a ball game in Havana. He also said that MacPhail had not offered Durocher the job of pilot-in-command of the Yankees in 1947.

In making this announcement Wednesday officials of the Junior Chamber explained that Mr. Phillips entered into an agreement with the Jaycees to operate the route for one year, ending April 1, 1947, under organization supervision, and that the collection system has now been turned over to him. The announcement was made by G. E. Miller, chairman of the public health committee of the Junior Chamber.

was a very discursive sort of meeting.

"There was no discussion of any presidential action such as a new economic message to the congress."

"There is no likelihood of a formal statement by the President."

"The general economic situation was explored."

In response to question, Ross said that the strike situation was not discussed, "as far as he could remember."

He said Dr. Nourse read a four or five page memorandum to the meeting which "was very much along the lines of his previous report to the president."

CHANDLER further ordered complete silence in the future by all individuals who engaged in the long and heated controversy. He said that he himself would have no further comment. He explained:

THOUSANDS PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO HENRY FORD

Great And Small View Body Of Industrial Genius At Greenfield Village

DETROIT, April 9—The great and the small trooped to Greenfield village in suburban Dearborn today to pay last tribute to the man who made it great. The body of Henry Ford lay in state in the huge village recreation hall, open to the public from 8 a. m., until 10 p. m.

The municipal transportation system set up a special bus line, bearing the placard "Greenfield Village," outlined in heavy black, from downtown Detroit to the hall.

Buses run every half hour until 9:30 p. m. Special policemen were stationed in the village to direct motorists to a parking lot.

Funeral services for the automobile magnate, who died unexpectedly of a cerebral hemorrhage at the age of 83, will be held in St. Paul's Episcopal cathedral at 2:30 p. m. (EST) Thursday, with private burial in the Ford lot at Dearborn.

Flags in Dearborn were at half mast today, as they will be for the next 30 days under an order from Mayor Orville Hubbard, and flags on Michigan state buildings also were lowered in mourning for the man who made the state a great industrial center.

DETROIT city hall flag was at half mast, and a huge, black-bordered picture of Ford will be put in front of the city hall, as a token of respect from the city council.

President George W. Mason of the Automobile Manufacturers' association announced that not a wheel in an automotive plant in the nation will turn at 2:30 tomorrow, when the funeral rites begin.

He said length of the shutdown will be left up to individual companies, but requested other industries and private motorists, bus and truck operators to join in the tribute.

SHAFFER ASKS CAUTION WHILE BURNING BURSH

COLUMBUS, O., April 9—State Highway Director Murray D. Shaffer today asked residents of Ohio to secure permits and use care when burning brush and rubbish along highway right-of-ways, wooded sections or state forest reserves.

Director Shaffer said he is seeking the cooperation of all Ohioans because each Spring many trees are killed or injured and soil fertility is destroyed along with fences, crops, farm buildings and wildlife shelter and food for birds and animals due to uncontrolled fires.

He also pointed out that forest fire laws of Ohio do not permit kindling a fire outside municipalities without permission during the months of March, April, May, October and November and persons violating these laws are subject to fines not to exceed $200.

"If it is necessary to have a brush fire or burn over a clearing, weed field or burn rubbish, first obtain a permit from the local fire warden, then read the permit carefully and comply with all its conditions," Director Shaffer said. "For by observing the laws and rules we will be helping to conserve our natural resources and preserve for posterity our fields, streams and wooded areas which are so vital to our state."

The percentage of American families which has five children has been approximately halved since 1920.

CROWDS SLATED TO SEE TRIBE PLAY THIS YEAR

Team Fails To Live Up To Fancy Plans Made For Entertaining Fans

CLEVELAND, April 9—“Everybody is going to see the Indians play.”

That's the opening line of a singing commercial spotted 20 times a day on Cleveland's four radio stations for the last couple of weeks.

As a fitting rejoinder to this somewhat corny jingle, the Cleveland baseball fans are asking, “play what, and how well?”

Being a seasonal question, it might as well wait for a seasonal answer beginning with the 1947 opener against the Chicago White Sox in the waterfront stadium next Tuesday afternoon.

BILL VEECK, youthful and exuberant president of the tribe, after some six weeks of training at Tucson, Ariz., still rates the Indians as finishing among the first five clubs in the American circuit.

“Illinois” Lou Boudreau, the Tribe's manager and shortstop, however, is highly optimistic and places his club third in the procession, behind Boston and Detroit.

So far and with all due respects to the bevy of all-star oldtimers who help Lou whip his team into shape at Tucson, Ariz., most of the emphasis seems to be on smashing gate receipts records until such a time as the Indians can produce a championship baseball team.

That, essentially, is the motive behind the singing commercial currently being drummed into the baseball fans' ears.

FOR ONE, the Indians have deserted the old home stand at league park and have taken permanent abode in the vast and drafty city-owned stadium.

That's jumping the seating capacity from 27,000 to 32,000. Every trick in the book is being planned by the Indian management to put huge crowds into that sea of seats, including free ladies' day, free kids' day and bargain season rates. Fireworks and clowning coaches will remain in the act as hangovers from last season.

So far, however, the baseball team does not stack up against either the pretentious preparations or the theater it is to play in.

THE INDIANS still have Bob Feller, the strikeout king of the majors. Bob is slated to start the season and that automatic-

RIDDLE FACES TEST; BLACKWELL TO OPEN SEASON

KINGSFORD, Tenn., April 9—Elmer Riddle's comeback attempt with the Cincinnati Reds was set for a stiff test today against the Boston Red Sox at Kingsford.

Riddle, who recently asked Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler to take him off the voluntary retired list, faces Joe Cronin's ace Dave (Boo) Ferris in the ninth game of a ten-game exhibition series between the two clubs.

Yesterday Eddie Erazo, Johnny Neun's prize mound rookie, held the powerful Sox to five hits, while his teammates battered three opposing pitchers for 11. The Reds won, 9-1.

Neun also announced that Ewell Blackwell will open next Tuesday against the St. Louis Cardinals. The Reds manager had been grooming Johnny Vander Meer for the starting assignment at Crosley field, but switched yesterday when his ace had a recurrence of an old arm ailment.

ly puts the first day's gate at 65,000 or more, despite the fact that the Tribe's best previous opening day crowd was 42,000. Bob says he will win 30 or more games this year.

Bob Kuzava, who came to Cleveland late last season, is rated the second starting hurler. That's about it in the pitching department, except for several old men and green youngsters.

Jim Hegan will do the catching and the rest of the starting team lines up with Eddie Robinson at first, Joe Gordon at second, Boudreau “himself” at short, Kenny Keltner at third, Pat Seerey in left, Dale Mitchell in center, and probably Hal Peck in right field, at least until Hank Edwards recovers from a shoulder injury.

Seerey, with 12 homers in the grapefruit circuit, has been a pre-season standout. Should Keltner and Gordon show something of their heyday form and the hurlers pull a surprise, then perhaps the Indians will wind up in fifth place or a notch or so higher.

“UNBLOCK” your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

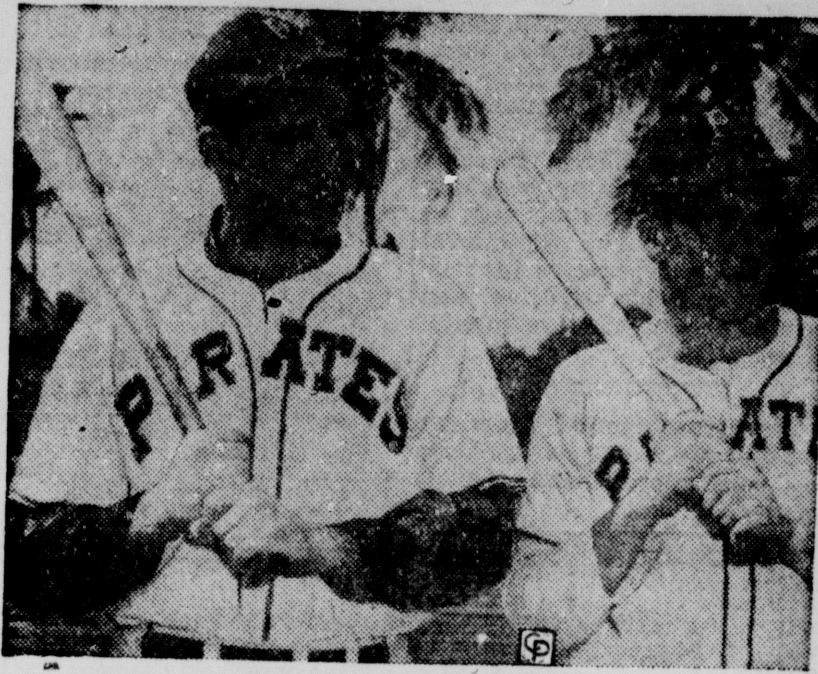

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when the lower part gets blocked food may fail to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is something to “unblock” your lower intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take as directed. They gently and effectively “unblock” your digestive tract. This permits all 6 of Nature's own digestive juices to mix better with your food. You get genuine relief from indigestion so you can feel really good again. Buy Carter's Pills today. “Unblock” your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

GIANTS LOSE OUTFIELDER WHO SUFFERS BROKEN LEG

HICKORY, N. C., April 9—The Cleveland Indians and New York Giants continued their northward trek today, the Giants now minus the services of outfielder Carroll Lockman.

Lockman sustained a broken right leg as the Giants whipped the Tribe, 4-0, yesterday in Sheffield Ala., to even their Spring series at six games apiece. Cleveland batsman could garner but two hits off the offerings of Dave Koslo and Ken Trinkle. The Giants, meanwhile, pulled a sixth inning uprising to clinch the win.

LEADING WOMAN TENNIS PLAYER IS SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, April 9—United States tennis forces today were deprived of their outstanding women's player through the suspension by the U.S.L.T.A. of Miss Pauline Betz, Los Angeles. She was banned yesterday along with Mrs. Sarah Palrey Cooke because of their plans to participate in a professional tour being arranged by Mrs. Cooke's husband, Elwood, himself an internationalist of some renown. He also was suspended.

The latter reportedly is through with tennis and plans to enter the sporting goods business as well as serving as director of the tour planned for Miss Betz and his wife.

Action against the two women players was taken by the amateur rules committee, pending further action by the executive committee which meets in September. The latter is expected to approve as a formality. Meantime, the women stars will, according to plans, start a pro tour in May and be missing from such fixtures as the Wimbledon and U. S. championships.

Miss Betz currently holds both of those titles and has been U. S. champion in four of the last six years. Mrs. Cooke was the titleholder in the other two years, including 1945. She did not defend last year.

BABE RUTH RECUPERATING IN FLORIDA SUNSHINE

MIAMI, FLA., April 9—Babe Ruth, ailing baseball immortal, began a vacation in Miami today as the guest of a friend, Raymond Kilthau.

The Babe, accompanied by his wife, Claire, and a nurse, arrived in the Florida metropolis last night by plane. He told newsmen he felt “well” after his eight-hour flight from New York.

A large crowd was on hand to greet the one-time home run king.

BETTER BOOKS

A GROUP of people described as "prominent Americans", who wish to remain anonymous, has donated $30,000 to be given as prizes for book-length manuscripts of fiction or of other classifications which "stress the Christian principle." The donors are both Catholics and Protestants, and the money will be issued by the Christophers, a society directed by the Rev. James Keller. The address is Christophers c/o Award, 2 East 39th st., New York, 16, N. Y.

The works need not be strictly religious, said the director, who mentioned The Yearling, by Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, as an example of the type of book it is hoped the contest will encourage. Judges include Clare Booth Luce, playwright and former congresswoman; Mary O'Hara, author of My Friend Flicka; Fulton Oursler, an editor of Readers' Digest; Miles Connolly, a Hollywood writer, and the Rev. John S. Kennedy, editor of the Catholic transcript. It is time that backing developed for publications of worthwhile and inspirational content. Judging from what has been bought and promoted by publishing houses lately, it has seemed that only sordid and sexy themes could be considered for the book market of today. These awards of the Christophers should bring to light a type of literature that a great many people will be glad to find on sale.

NONENTITIES PREFERRED

IF A NUMBER of persons are opposed to a man's appointment to office, that should disqualify him. This strange doctrine has been advanced by Senator McKellar of Tennessee and his followers of both parties, in opposing the Lillenthal appointment. They say that only a man to whom no one objects should be chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

This means that only some one who had never been heard of, should be named. As Senator Barkley of Kentucky reminded his colleagues, the rule of confirming no one to whom objection was raised, would have deprived the United States of the services of Chief Justice Hughes and Justice Brandeis. They were confirmed only after a bitter fight. Their leading foes lived to regret their opposition.

Thomas Jefferson had a word for it! "Men of character must make enemies because there are two sides to every question, and taking one with decision, and acting on it with effect, those who take the other will of course be hostile."

Many people who knew little about David Lillenthal at the beginning of this controversy now approve him thoroughly because of the quality of the enmity.

The more we travel in this country or any other country, the more we seem to feel a growing suspicion that we don't know how to run the whole outfit.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 9—New dealers in the past have tried to interpret the legal guarantees of the constitution, illogically and unnaturally, by applying them socially, for instance. The constitution supposed that socially you would choose what you wish, and can get. The new dealers thought they could make everyone equally acceptable socially—a cruel defect in their reasoning, impossible of enforcement. Equality could not be attained any more socially than all people can be provided economically the same. This was their common distortion of the constitutional guarantee of common economic liberty to do things for yourself. The constitution did not guarantee wealth—only legal right to pursue same. It did not guarantee happiness—only legal opportunity to pursue same. It did not amend all the greater laws of God or nature—but acted in consonance with same.

The new dealers might say these constitutional rights were granted only to an extent—and constitutional liberty was granted only to an extent "compatible with liberty, justice and economic security for their fellows." This is true enough, but not in their meaning or in the illogical deductive reasoning they draw from the plain fact. Their reasoning destroys the plain, simple original meaning.

You can see this in the following considerations: the constitutional guarantees were written under the theory that the broadest possible doctrine was necessary to provide freedom for the individual; whereas the new dealers argue that the least freedom for the individual is apt to be necessary to make it compatible with state necessities. The original constitutional theory was that the least government is the best government; the new dealers believe the most government may be the best government. The two theories are exactly opposite.

The constitution did not pretend to be the last word. It was amended before the ink was dull and has been amended 22 times since. But it did not have a theory which was never amended. This was the theory that the voluntary actions of free individuals brought better living results than the actions imposed on individuals by leaders. One man could not know it all. To gain this professed and desired result, it restrained individual liberty only to make it compatible with the simplest common necessities of the state. Freedom obviously does not mean a blank license to individuals to murder, pillage or even act against the simple common necessities of society, to walk on sidewalks and not spit in the street. We wanted order and progress and the constitution tried to allow us to gain these ends by installing a rule in which the restraints were on those commonly acceptable to the people—acceptable under their own free will. We passed such amendments as the one giving women the right to vote.

LAW STUDENTS EXCHANGE

EXCHANGE fellowships between graduates of Yale University Law School and graduates of law schools in foreign countries are being inaugurated this spring. One student each from China, from France, Korea and Sweden will come to Yale and a Yale man be sent to each of these countries. More countries will be brought into the exchange as time goes on.

Here is a practical plan to develop knowledge of international civil law, making for round-the-world good will and being an important influence for peace.

TOO GOOD TO BID HIGH

ON THE subject of pre-emptive bids, there are three main groups of thought. First are those players who love them, making them on all tempting occasions, practically any time they think they can take enough tricks to prevent heavy damage. Second, on the other extreme, are those who say they never make pre-emptive bids, original or otherwise, no matter what they hold. Third, in the middle, are those who will make them when holding a combination of enough suit length and virtually no high-card strength. These players consider some hands too good for a leap-ling Lena high bid.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Twenty-nine members of Union Guild enjoyed a fine meeting Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Harry Cupp, Wayne township.

Circleville and Pickaway county was soaked today with one of the biggest rains of the year.

Circleville received a check for $16,000 from the sale of auto license tags. Money from this distribution may be used only for street repairs and maintenance.

TEN YEARS AGO

Mrs. Orion King, West High street, has returned to her home after attending the state conference of Daughters of 1812, in Toledo.

Quarterly court of honor for Pickaway district Boy Scout troops will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Memorial hall. Ed Ebert is chairman of committee on scout advancement.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Barnes, Akron, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Miriam Barnes to Emmett Barnhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Barnhart, Montclair avenue.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Miss Bernadine Lutz, who has been quite ill of peritonitis at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Lutz, is convalescing.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

SHERRY DIDN'T get a very good look at Kay Winger until they reached the Russian restaurant where they were going to dine. Kay had chosen to wait in the car while Lex went up to get Sherry. It was too dark for her to see Kay well when he presented them to each other and slid in under the wheel and drove the few blocks to their destination.

Kay's voice was pleasant, her perfume subtle and expensive. Beyond these things, Sherry's impression of her was vague. She wondered whether the other girl was trying to appraise her in the darkness. It seemed likely. Then they had reached the restaurant and Lex was helping them both down, was crossing the sidewalk between them. Once inside, while Lex handled her overcoat to the check girl, Sherry's and Kay's glances met clearly for the first time and there was an undisguised gleam of curiosity in each.

Sherry saw a slim, darkly beautiful girl, rather shorter than she, with eyes like brown velvet and a small, ardently curved mouth. Kay was tastefully dressed in a frock of a warm gold color, with a tiny matching hat and brown accessories that blended with her beaver coat.

Sherry smiled, seeing the other girl's equally appraising look. And Kay smiled, too, showing small even white teeth and just a suggestion of a dimple. The dimple made her smile seem warmer than it really was.

"I've wondered what you were like for such a long time," Sherry admitted.

Kay nodded in agreement. "And I've wondered about you." "Well, now we know."

Somehow that moment of frankness seemed to break the ice a little. When Lex joined them, they were talking more easily, and he smiled, pleased to see them making some progress toward friendship. A waiter settled them at a table, took their order.

Over Manhattan's Lex said, "I've been wanting you girls to meet. Only Kay was away so long. I thought I'd never be able to arrange it."

"Did you have a nice trip?" Sherry asked.

And Kay answered, "Oh, marvelous." She took a sip of her drink. "It's odd, but—I had quite a mistaken picture of you in my mind."

"Oh?" Kay smiled. "I imagined you as an entirely different sort of person. Blue jeans and flannel shirt and heavy shoes. Lex, why did you mislead me so? Sherry's quite lovely."

Lex looked uncomfortable, sitting there between them. And Sherry said, ignoring the barb in Kay's remark, "Well, I do think that way at the farm. And that's about the only place Lex has ever seen me."

"You spend quite a bit of time there, don't you?" Kay asked. "Lex tells me you love it."

"I do," Sherry admitted. "I've always gone out as often as I could. Steve is an old friend and I'm very fond of him."

"Lex is fond of him, too. Aren't you, darling?" Kay turned her warm brown glance on Lex. "Mr. Jeffrey must be quite a wonderful person, from all Lex has told me."

"They don't come any finer than Steve," Lex said. And Sherry nodded, adding, "I don't think I've ever known anyone else so well-balanced, so completely right and logical in his thinking. He knows just what he wants in life and he's gone after it, without all the wavering back and forth, the indecisiveness that hinders most people."

"That's exactly it," Lex said. "Steve."

"And yet," Kay's low voice cut in, "he isn't really a very successful person, would you say? For his age, I mean. And considering the fact that he inherited money."

Sherry said, "I suppose that would hinge on how you define success."

"Well," Kay spread her hands in a little apologetic gesture, "isn't money the usual gauge? Not that I want to sound mercenary."

"I suppose it is," Sherry said. "Still—"

This time it was Lex who interrupted. "It shouldn't be, though. A man like Steve, who does work he likes, that he's suited for, and makes a comfortable living at it, is surely as successful as someone who happens to earn more money. Steve has serenity, more chance to enjoy life as he goes along, than it's possible for a city man to achieve. Isn't that a part of success, too—a big part?"

"Darling," Kay smiled at him. "You overwhelm me. Besides, two against one isn't fair. And I can see you and Sherry are of the same opinion. I think my viewpoint is far more general—but let's not argue..."

They didn't argue after that. The next hour or so passed pleasantly enough. The foreign food was delicious, the background of gypsy music gay and sparkling. A semblance of friendliness wrapped the three of them about. And yet, Sherry thought, Kay was not really friendly with her. It was as though she looked out, her dark glance coolly appraising, from behind some barrier that shut them apart. And Sherry had the impression that Kay had read the barrier deliberately, that she had agreed to come with Lex tonight to meet her, not with any idea that they might like each other, simply as a strategic measure.

Sherry thought to herself, it's as though she wanted to get to know me personally, so she could judge whether I was any threat against Lex's feeling for her. Well, I'm not. Surely she can see that. So now that she's found out, why does she still stay there, distrustfully, on the other side of her wall?

Sherry asked, trying to get through to her, "You and Lex have known each other a long time, haven't you?" "Oh, for ages," Kay said. "We met at Cassie Clyde's debut party. Four years ago, was it, Lex?" "Just about."

Their eyes met in a long, remembering look. And Sherry felt shut out, superfluous. But she had brought it on herself. "We'd just had time to get well acquainted," Kay went on, the little dimple showing in her cheek, "when Lex enlisted and was sent off to Texas."

"Deep in the heart of —" Lex grinned. "That's where I spent the next few months." He added then, his eyes warm on Kay's face, "We got engaged on my last leave."

"Darling—all these personalities!" Kay murmured reproachfully. "We're boring poor Sherry to death."

"No, you're not," Sherry denied. "I'm interested, really."

She thought, You're not boring me—but it hurts. Still, that's my own foolish fault. Before tonight, before I knew Kay as a real person, there was a sort of unreality about Lex's love for her, about their being engaged. It was like something I'd read, or heard about, but didn't quite believe. I wouldn't let myself believe it. But now I know...

Hearing their reminiscences together at the various times and places they mentioned. Kay and Lex, dancing in each other's arms, sitting in theaters, looking deep into each other's eyes across little restaurant tables. Kay, kissing Lex good-bye at the station and standing alone, watching him stride off. Kay, waiting to meet him when he came home again three long years later.

But they're still apart, Sherry thought. And Lex was unhappy. She supposed Kay was, too. It seemed so foolish, such a waste of something precious and irreplaceable. But it was none of her business, she reminded herself. It was up to them to work out. She sat there, keeping the interested smile on her face so long her muscles ached with it. But not so badly as her heart ached...

Finally dinner was over and their last cigarettes smoked. In the street outside, with the cold raw wind from the lake whipping about them, Lex suggested a little drive. But Sherry said, "Not for me, if you don't mind. I was up awfully late last night. I'm tired."

The excuse sounded lame in her own ears, but the others accepted it readily enough. They dropped her off at her apartment. "It's been a lovely evening," Sherry said, and thanked Lex. She added then, looking at Kay, "I enjoyed meeting you. I hope we'll see each other again."

"You will," Lex said heartily. "I'll attend to it."

Kay murmured politely, "I enjoyed meeting you, too."

Good-byes were said and Sherry moved away from the car. Lex watched her cross the sidewalk and go through the heavy door.

Old Dan, the elevator operator, said, conversationally, "Gettin' colder, ain't it? Paper said snow."

Sherry didn't answer for a moment. He glanced around at her and it seemed to him her eyes were unnaturally bright, that there might be tears in them. But she smiled her friendly smile and said, "It is colder. That wind!" So the old man decided he'd been wrong.

STARS SAY—

For Wednesday, April 9

THE shrewd and sagacious grasp of a sudden and abrupt turn of events, probably of a dramatic and breath-taking aspect, should bring to a head the thrilling fulfillment of many radical and cherished hopes, wishes and objectives, both in business and personal life. Preparation on sound and enduring basis, well worked out on constructive plans sustained by hard work, endurance and patience, may be furthered by some subtle influences or covert agreements. Deep thought as well as quick action, even outside regulation tenets, should bring high adventure and romance into reality.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of an adventurous and dramatic nature in which a quite unforeseen turn of events if sanely, shrewdly and perseveringly developed, should divert the course of life into surprisingly new and desirable channels. There may be radical change, with breath-taking episode, romance and thrills. Hard work and good judgment are sustained by shrewd or subtle anticipation, even intriguing or unconventional ideas. The unique, sensational and irregular are part of the thrilling reality and long-cherished aspirations. A child born on this day has unusual forces and faculties,

DIET AND HEALTH

One-Sided Facial Paralysis

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE one-sided paralysis of the face, known as Bell's palsy is a much more common ailment than most people realize. It may be due to a disease or accident, but by far the most common cause is exposure of the side of the face to a draft of cold air, as in driving.

It has been estimated that 75 percent of the cases due to cold recover even without treatment. Drs. H. P. Pickering and C. M. Pickering of New Zealand, state that the other 25 percent end up with permanently paralyzed muscles and real disfigurement.

Proper Treatment

Since it is impossible to say in advance who will recover and who will not, it is important that all those with Bell's palsy be given proper treatment. The chief thing which interferes with recovery of the paralyzed muscles is their continued overstretching by their normal muscles on the opposite side of the face.

In order to keep this overstretching from occurring it is suggested that the face muscles be strapped. In doing this, the lower half of the paralyzed side is first covered with a thin layer of oil or petrolatum. Then two strips of adhesive tape about half an inch wide are applied on the opposite side of the face starting at about the level of the lip. These adhesive straps are then brought around to the opposite side and fastened back of the ear. This tape is not removed until the condition is overcome. If it becomes soiled, fresh adhesive tape can be applied over it. At the end of a week or ten days the patient attempts to make movements of the paralyzed side of his face.

Massage and Exercise

Massage and exercise often do no good because this may result in overstretching of the affected muscle. At the end of the third week if it does not look as if the patient is recovering, the muscles may be stimulated with a weak electrical current. However, this must not be overdone since it will cause tiring of the muscles. If the current causes any painful sensation, it is too strong. This treatment is carried out daily. It may be necessary to carry out the treatment for a period of two to three months, although some patients may recover within a week. Bell's palsy may be produced by injuries or by tumors. Of course, in such cases surgical treatment may be needed.

A typical army division in 1918 used motor vehicles totaling 4,000 rated horse power, while a mechanized division in 1945 had more than 187,000 horse power.

Vandenberg Goal Remains | Lewis to Continue Demand
State Post, Friends Insist | For Uniform Safety Code

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Friends of Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Arthur H. Vandenberg (R), Michigan, are convinced he means it when he says he does not seek the 1948 GOP presidential nomination.

They say that Vandenberg still has his sights set on being secretary of state in a Republican administration—and that he regards this as his highest ambition in public service.

Big Van is reported authoritatively to believe that he would be too old to run for the presidency next year when he will be 63—a year younger than President Truman.

He is said to be strongly of the opinion that his role as elder statesman would best be climaxed in the senior cabinet post.

Vandenberg's voice as chairman of the foreign relations committee now is the voice of the Republican majority on international affairs. He speaks with the authority of the party on Capitol Hill.

The Michigan colon is said to be willing to become secretary of state under any successful Republican nominee—including Minnesota's Harold E. Stassen.

That, of course, includes the possibility that either Tom Dewey or Bob Taft, the GOP domestic policy boss, wins the nomination and the election.

THE EMPHASIS ON MINE SAFETY as dramatized by the "memorial" work stoppage of soft coal miners will continue in John L. Lewis' negotiations with bituminous operators. Lewis is certain to demand a uniform national safety code—as contained in the United Mine Workers' contract with the government—in any agreement with the private operators.

During his appearance before the House labor committee after the Centennial disaster, Lewis asked for speedy legislation requiring federal mine inspectors to close pits they find violating safety standards.

As Lewis talked came the announcement that Secretary of Interior Julius A. Krug had ordered 518 soft coal mines closed as "dangerous."

The code was a major stumbling block in the negotiations which collapsed a year ago and led to federal seizure of the mines. Lewis will be more insistent than ever on the matter now, in view of the recent Illinois disaster.

The mine safety issue also will figure heavily in Lewis' demand that the private operators accept the government-approved health and welfare fund for miners.

Anthraxite operators agreed to the welfare fund, but soft coal miners have not assented. The five-cents-a-ton royalty on bituminous coal for a welfare fund exists only by reason of the government-UMW contract which expires June 30.

THE DRIVE AGAINST COMMUNISTS in the United States is in full swing, with the House un-American activities committee determined to throw the national spotlight on American Reds.

The Communist party probably won't be outlawed, but the committee will leave no stone unturned in its efforts to expose the Reds to the American public.

The committee plans to make public a series of reports on Communist infiltration into almost every level of American life. It also plans to conduct additional hearings on the activities of leading Red agents in the United States.

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R) New Jersey, says that two cases similar to the Gerhard Eisler case will be aired in the near future. The hearings undoubtedly will bring out details of the work of Russian-trained sabotage specialists who are roaming the country.

The committee is awaiting the return of Eugene Dennis, American Communist leader, to its witness stand. Dennis refused to accept a committee subpoena, but he will be cited for contempt of Congress unless he shows up.

John S. Kennedy, editor of the Catholic transcript. It is time that backing developed for publications of worthwhile and inspirational content. Judging from what has been bought and promoted by publishing houses lately, it has seemed that only sordid and sexy themes could be considered for the book market of today. These awards of the Christophers should bring to light a type of literature that a great many people will be glad to find on sale.

NONENTITIES PREFERRED

IF A NUMBER of persons are opposed to a man's appointment to office, that should disqualify him. This strange doctrine has been advanced by Senator McKellar of Tennessee and his followers of both parties, in opposing the Lillenthal appointment. They say that only a man to whom no one objects should be chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

This means that only some one who had never been heard of, should be named. As Senator Barkley of Kentucky reminded his colleagues, the rule of confirming no one to whom objection was raised, would have deprived the United States of the services of Chief Justice Hughes and Justice Brandeis. They were confirmed only after a bitter fight. Their leading foes lived to regret their opposition.

Thomas Jefferson had a word for it! "Men of character must make enemies because there are two sides to every question, and taking one with decision, and acting on it with effect, those who take the other will of course be hostile."

Many people who knew little about David Lillenthal at the beginning of this controversy now approve him thoroughly because of the quality of the enmity.

The more we travel in this country or any other country, the more we seem to feel a growing suspicion that we don't know how to run the whole outfit.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 9—New dealers in the past have tried to interpret the legal guarantees of the constitution, illogically and unnaturally, by applying them socially, for instance. The constitution supposed that socially you would choose what you wish, and can get. The new dealers thought they could make everyone equally acceptable socially—a cruel defect in their reasoning, impossible of enforcement. Equality could not be attained any more socially than all people can be provided economically the same. This was their common distortion of the constitutional guarantee of common economic liberty to do things for yourself. The constitution did not guarantee wealth—only legal right to pursue same. It did not guarantee happiness—only legal opportunity to pursue same. It did not amend all the greater laws of God or nature—but acted in consonance with same.

The new dealers might say these constitutional rights were granted only to an extent—and constitutional liberty was granted only to an extent "compatible with liberty, justice and economic security for their fellows." This is true enough, but not in their meaning or in the illogical deductive reasoning they draw from the plain fact. Their reasoning destroys the plain, simple original meaning.

You can see this in the following considerations: the constitutional guarantees were written under the theory that the broadest possible doctrine was necessary to provide freedom for the individual; whereas the new dealers argue that the least freedom for the individual is apt to be necessary to make it compatible with state necessities. The original constitutional theory was that the least government is the best government; the new dealers believe the most government may be the best government. The two theories are exactly opposite.

The constitution did not pretend to be the last word. It was amended before the ink was dull and has been amended 22 times since. But it did not have a theory which was never amended. This was the theory that the voluntary actions of free individuals brought better living results than the actions imposed on individuals by leaders. One man could not know it all. To gain this professed and desired result, it restrained individual liberty only to make it compatible with the simplest common necessities of the state. Freedom obviously does not mean a blank license to individuals to murder, pillage or even act against the simple common necessities of society, to walk on sidewalks and not spit in the street. We wanted order and progress and the constitution tried to allow us to gain these ends by installing a rule in which the restraints were on those commonly acceptable to the people—acceptable under their own free will. We passed such amendments as the one giving women the right to vote.

LAW STUDENTS EXCHANGE

EXCHANGE fellowships between graduates of Yale University Law School and graduates of law schools in foreign countries are being inaugurated this spring. One student each from China, from France, Korea and Sweden will come to Yale and a Yale man be sent to each of these countries. More countries will be brought into the exchange as time goes on.

Here is a practical plan to develop knowledge of international civil law, making for round-the-world good will and being an important influence for peace.

TOO GOOD TO BID HIGH

ON THE subject of pre-emptive bids, there are three main groups of thought. First are those players who love them, making them on all tempting occasions, practically any time they think they can take enough tricks to prevent heavy damage. Second, on the other extreme, are those who say they never make pre-emptive bids, original or otherwise, no matter what they hold. Third, in the middle, are those who will make them when holding a combination of enough suit length and virtually no high-card strength. These players consider some hands too good for a leaping Lena high bid.

tricks by one in clubs, one in hearts, two in diamonds and one in spades, giving East and West a total of 300 points.

At Table 1, where South considered his hand good for something other than hearts—which it certainly was—the heart 9 was opened to the A. South returned his club singleton, hoping to find his partner holding the spade A. He did, and won the third trick to ruff. That made three tricks for the defense and the diamond A was then laid down for the set.

South's restraint and sanity at Table 1 therefore earned his side 100 points. Added to 300 which his East-West teammates scored at the other table, his team won the deal by a total of 400—just about the difference in merit.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Twenty-nine members of Union Guild enjoyed a fine meeting Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Harry Cupp, Wayne township.

Circleville and Pickaway county was soaked today with one of the biggest rains of the year.

Circleville received a check for $16,000 from the sale of auto license tags. Money from this distribution may be used only for street repairs and maintenance.

TEN YEARS AGO

Mrs. Orion King, West High street, has returned to her home

after attending the state conference of Daughters of 1812, in Toledo.

Quarterly court of honor for Pickaway district Boy Scout troops will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Memorial hall. Ed Ebert is chairman of committee on scout advancement.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Barnes, Akron, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Miriam Barnes to Emmett Barnhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Barnhart, Montclair avenue.

Twenty-five years ago Miss Bernadine Lutz, who has been quite ill of peritonitis at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Lutz, is convalescing.

Years ago Wrong Way Corrigan headed his plane for California and wound up in Ireland. But he, unlike the bus driver, had no cordon of traffic cops to elude.

The news stories say the wayward bus finally ran out of gas in a town called Wildwood. A place like Wildwood would seem, naturally, about as far as one could get from Broadway, New York City.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

SHERRY DIDN'T get a very good look at Kay Winger until they reached the Russian restaurant where they were going to dine. Kay had chosen to wait in the car while Lex went up to get Sherry. It was too dark for her to see Kay well when he presented them to each other and slid in under the wheel and drove the few blocks to their destination.

Kay's voice was pleasant, her perfume subtle and expensive. Beyond these things, Sherry's impression of her was vague. She wondered whether the other girl was trying to appraise her in the dark. It seemed likely. Then they had reached the restaurant and Lex was helping them both down, was crossing the sidewalk between them. Once inside, while Lex handed his overcoat to the check girl, Sherry and Kay's glances met clearly for the first time and there was an undisguised gleam of curiosity in each.

Sherry saw a slim, darkly beautiful girl, rather shorter than she, with eyes like brown velvet and a small, ardently curved mouth. Kay was tastefully dressed in a frock of a warm gold color, with a tiny matching hat and brown accessories that blended with her beaver coat.

Sherry smiled, seeing the other girl's equally appraising look. And Kay smiled, too, showing small even white teeth and just a suggestion of a dimple. The dimple made her smile seem warmer than it really was.

"I've wondered what you were like for such a long time," Sherry admitted.

Kay nodded in agreement. "And I've wondered about you."

"Well, now we know." Somehow that moment of frankness seemed to break the ice a little. When Lex joined them, they were talking more easily, and they smiled, pleased to see them making some progress toward friendship. A waiter settled them at a table, took their order.

Over Manhattan Lex said, "I've been wanting you girls to meet. Only Kay was away so long. I thought I'd never be able to arrange it."

"Did you have a nice trip?" Sherry asked.

And Kay answered, "Oh, marvelous." She took a sip of her drink. "It's odd, but I had quite a mistaken picture of you in my mind."

"Oh?" Kay smiled. "I imagined you as an entirely different sort of person. Blue jeans and flannel shirt and heavy shoes. Lex, why did you mislead me so? Sherry's quite lovely."

Lex looked uncomfortable, sitting there between them.

And Sherry said, ignoring the barb in Kay's remark, "Well, I do dress that way at the farm. And that's about the only place Lex has ever seen me."

"You spend quite a bit of time there, don't you?" Kay asked.

"I do," Sherry admitted. "I've always gone out as often as I could. Steve is an old friend and I'm very fond of him."

"Lex is fond of him, too. Aren't you, darling?" Kay turned her warm brown glance on Lex. "Mr. Jeffrey must be quite a wonderful person, from all Lex has told me."

"They don't come any finer than Steve," Lex said.

And Sherry nodded, adding, "I don't think I've ever known anyone else so well-balanced, so completely right and logical in his thinking. He knows just what he wants in life and he's gone after it, without all the wavering back and forth, the indecisiveness that hinders most people."

"That's exactly it," Lex said. "Steve."

"And yet," Kay's low voice cut in, "he isn't really a very successful person, would you say? For his age, I mean. And considering the fact that he inherited money."

Sherry said, "I suppose that would hinge on how you define success."

"Well," Kay spread her hands in a little apologetic gesture, "isn't money the usual gauge? Not that I want to sound mercenary."

"I suppose it is," Sherry said.

"Still—"

This time it was Lex who interrupted. "It shouldn't be, though. A man like Steve, who does work he likes, that he's suited for, and makes a comfortable living at it, is surely as successful as someone who happens to earn more money, merely because the line of work he's in affords more money. Steve has serenity, more chance to enjoy life as he goes along, than it's possible for a city man to achieve. Isn't that a part of success, too—a big part?"

"Darling," Kay smiled at him. "You overwhelm me. Besides, two against one isn't fair. And I can see you and Sherry are of the same opinion. I think my viewpoint is far more general—but let's not argue..."

They didn't argue after that. The next hour or so passed pleasantly enough. The foreign food was delicious, the background of gray music gay and sparkling. A semblance of friendliness wrapped the three of them about. And yet, Sherry thought, Kay was not really friendly with her. It was as though she looked out, her dark glance coolly appraising, from behind some barrier that shut them apart. And Sherry had the impression that Kay had raised the barrier deliberately, that she had agreed to come with Lex tonight to meet her with any idea that they might like each other, simply as a strategic measure.

Sherry thought to herself, it's as though she wanted to get to know me personally, so she could judge whether I was any threat against Lex's feeling for her. Well, I'm not. Surely she can see that. So now that she's found out, why does she still stay there, distrustfully, on the other side of her wall?

Sherry asked, trying to get through to her, "You and Lex have known each other a long time, haven't you?"

"Oh, for ages," Kay said. "We met at Cassie Clyde's debut party. Four years ago, was it, Lex?"

"Just about."

Their eyes met in a long, remembering look. And Sherry felt shut out, superfluous. But she had brought it on herself.

"We'd just had time to get well acquainted," Kay went on, the little dimple showing in her cheek, "when Lex enlisted and was sent off to Texas."

"Deep in the heart of —" Lex grinned. "That's where I spent the next few months." He added then, his eyes warm on Kay's face, "We got engaged on my last leave."

"Darling—all these personalities!" Kay murmured reproachfully. "We're boring poor Sherry to death."

"No, you're not," Sherry denied. "I'm interested, really."

She thought, You're not boring me—but it hurts. Still, that's my own foolish fault. Before tonight, before I knew Kay as a real person, there was a sort of unreality about Lex's love for her, about their being engaged. It was—like something I'd read, or heard about, but didn't quite believe. I wouldn't let myself believe it. But now I know.

Hearing their reminiscences Sherry couldn't help seeing them together at the various times and places they mentioned. Kay and Lex, dancing in each other's arms, sitting in theaters, looking deep into each other's eyes across little restaurant tables. Kay, kissing Lex good-bye at the station and standing alone, watching him stride off. Kay, waiting to meet him when he came home again three long years later.

But they're still apart, Sherry thought. And Lex was unhappy. She supposed Kay was, too. It seemed so foolish, such a waste of something precious and irreplaceable... But it was none of her business, she reminded herself. It was up to them to work out.

She sat there, keeping the interest, smiling at her face so long her muscles ached with it. But not so badly as her heart ached...

Finally dinner was over and their last cigarettes smoked. In the street outside, with the cold raw wind from the lake whipping about them, Lex suggested a little drive.

But Sherry said, "Not for me, if you don't mind. I was up awfully late last night. I'm tired."

The excuse sounded lame in her own ears, but the others accepted it readily enough. They dropped her off at her apartment.

"It's been a lovely evening," Sherry said, and thanked Lex. She added then, looking at Kay, "I enjoyed meeting you. I hope we'll see each other again."

"You will," Lex said heartily. "I'll attend to it."

Kay murmured politely, "I enjoyed meeting you, too."

Good-byes were said and Sherry moved away from the car. Lex watched her slip down the sidewalk and go through the heavy door.

Old Dan, the elevator operator, said conversationally, "Gettin' colder, ain't it? Paper said snow."

Sherry didn't answer for a moment. He glanced around at her and it seemed to him her eyes were unnaturally bright, that there might be tears in them.

But she smiled her friendly smile and said, "It is colder. That wind!"

So the old man decided he'd been wrong.

STARS SAY—

For Wednesday, April 9

THE shrewd and sagacious grasp of a sudden and abrupt turn of events, probably of a dramatic and breath-taking aspect, should bring to a head the thrilling fulfillment of many radical and cherished hopes, wishes and objectives, both in business and personal life. Preparation on sound and enduring basis, well worked out on constructive plans sustained by hard work, endurance and patience, may be furthered by some subtle influences or covert agreements. Deep thought as well as quick action, even outside regulation tenets, should bring high adventure and romance into reality.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of adventurous and dramatic nature in which a quite unforeseen turn of events if sanely, shrewdly and perseveringly developed, should divert the course of life into surprisingly new and desirable channels. There may be radical change, with breath-taking episode, romance and thrills. Hard work and good judgment are sustained by shrewd or subtle anticipation, even intriguing or unconventional ideas.

The unique, sensational and irregular are part of the thrilling reality and long-cherished aspirations. A child born on this day has unusual forces and faculties,

DIET AND HEALTH

One-Sided Facial Paralysis

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE one-sided paralysis of the face, known as Bell's palsy is a much more common ailment than most people realize. It may be due to a disease of accident, but by far the most common cause is exposure of the side of the face to a draft of cold air, as in driving.

It has been estimated that 75 per cent of the cases due to cold recover even without treatment. Drs. H. P. Pickering and C. M. Pickering of New Zealand, state that the other 25 per cent end up with permanently paralyzed muscles and real disfigurement.

Proper Treatment

Since it is impossible to say in advance who will recover and who will not, it is important that all those with Bell's palsy be given proper treatment. The chief thing which interferes with recovery of the paralyzed muscles is their continued overstretching by the normal muscles on the opposite side of the face.

In order to keep this overstretching from occurring it is suggested that the face muscles be strapped. In doing this, the lower half of the paralyzed side is first covered with a thin layer of oil or petrolatum. Then two strips

Massage and exercise often do no good because this may result in overstretching of the affected muscle. At the end of the third week if it does not look as if the patient is recovering, the muscles may be stimulated with a weak electrical current. However, this must not be overdone since it will cause tiring of the muscles. If the current causes any painful sensation, it is too strong. This treatment is carried out daily. It may be necessary to carry out the treatment for a period of two to three months, although some patients may recover within a week.

Bell's palsy may be produced by injuries or by tumors. Of course, in such cases surgical treatment may be needed.

A typical army division in 1918 used motor vehicles totaling 4,000 rated horse power, while a mechanized division in 1945 had more than 187,000 horse power.

Vandenberg Goal Remains Lewis to Continue Demand
State Post, Friends Insist For Uniform Safety Code

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Friends of Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Arthur H. Vandenberg (R), Michigan, are convinced he means it when he says he does not seek the 1948 GOP presidential nomination.

They say that Vandenberg still has his sights set on being secretary of state in a Republican administration—and that he regards this as his highest ambition in public service.

Big Van is reported authoritatively to believe that he would be too old to run for the presidency next year when he will be 63—a year younger than President Truman.

He is said to be strongly of the opinion that his role as elder statesman would best be climaxed in the senior cabinet post.

Vandenberg's voice as chairman of the foreign relations committee now is the voice of the Republican majority on international affairs. He speaks with the authority of the party on Capitol Hill.

The Michigan solon is said to be willing to become secretary of state under any successful Republican nominee—including Minnesota's Harold E. Stassen.

That, of course, includes the possibility that either Tom Dewey or Bob Taft, the GOP domestic policy boss, wins the nomination and the election.

THE EMPHASIS ON MINE SAFETY as dramatized by the "memorial" work stoppage of soft coal miners will continue in John L. Lewis' negotiations with bituminous operators.

Lewis is certain to demand a uniform national safety code—as contained in the United Mine Workers' contract with the government—in any agreement with the private operators.

During his appearance before the House labor committee after the Centennial disaster, Lewis asked for speedy legislation requiring federal mine inspectors to close pits they find violating safety standards.

As Lewis talked came the announcement that Secretary of Interior Julius A. Krug had ordered 518 soft coal mines closed as "dangerous."

The code was a major stumbling block in the negotiations which collapsed a year ago and led to federal seizure of the mines. Lewis will be more insistent than ever on the matter now, in view of the recent Illinois disaster.

The mine safety issue also will figure heavily in Lewis' demand that the private operators accept the government-approved health and welfare fund for miners.

Anthracite operators agreed to the welfare fund, but soft coal miners have not assented. The five-cents-a-ton royalty on bituminous coal for a welfare fund exists only by reason of the government-UMW contract which expires June 30.

Tired, "All-In"—Listless Feeling Brought To Halt

As Vibrant Energy is Released To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell Do you get up in the morning still tired, feel down and out all day? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the red-blood-cells.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that 888 Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the 888 Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 888 Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on 888 Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. 888 Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

JOHN P. JOY, MISS GRIM WED AT WILMINGTON

New Antioch church of Christ, Wilmington was the scene on Easter Sunday, April 6, of the wedding of Miss Marthajane Grim and John Paul Joy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Joy, Wilmington, former residents of Circleville. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Damon E. Grim, route 4, Wilmington.

Double ring ceremony was performed at 4 p. m. with the Rev. Clarence Swearingen pastor of First Methodist church, Circleville, officiating. Pink and white snapdragons, palms and green foliage flanked by two five branched candelabra decorated the altar. Bridal pathway was marked by white satin bows on the ends of each pew.

GIVEN in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Winter-white suit, toast colored brown straw hat, mulberry blouse and combined mulberry accessories. Four white gardenias were used in her shoulder corsage.

Miss Mildred Collingham, Wilmington, served as bridesmaid in a French blue suit with a white straw hat. Her flowers were pink rose buds. Jack White, Circleville, was best man and the ushers were James Brock and Jack Williams, both of Wilmington.

Mrs. Chester Hall, Mariemont, pianist, and Miss Dora B. Stauffer, Wilmington, soprano, presented a half hour of nuptial music preceding the wedding ceremony.

BRIDE'S parents were hosts for approximately 50 guests at their country home for a reception immediately following the wedding services. For the occasion the home was decorated in garden flowers, jonquils and snapdragons. Refreshments were served buffet style from the bride's table. Low crystal bowl filled with Easter lilies, sweet-peas and tulips formed the center arrangement of the table, flanked by three branched crystal holders bearing tall lighted tapers and a large three tiered wedding cake.

As the new Mr. and Mrs. Joy left for a wedding trip the bride donned a top coat of dark brown and light tan over her wedding suit.

The bride is a graduate of Wayne township high school, Clinton county, and has been a

Mavis Observe 54th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Mavis are celebrating their 54th wedding anniversary Wednesday, in their home on East Mound street.

They were married in Circleville and have spent their entire married life in this community. No special plans were made to observe the day. Both are in fairly good health.

Mr. and Mrs. Mavis are the parents of five living children, namely, Miss Maggie Mavis, George F. Mavis, Walter E. Mavis and Fred K. Mavis, Circleville and W. A. Mavis, Londonderry.

Mt. Sterling Pastor Eastern Star Speaker

45 Members Present For Meeting In Temple

Forty-five members were present Tuesday evening for the regular meeting of Order of Eastern Star No. 90 held in their rooms at Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Frank Reichelderfer, worthy matron, and Arthur Sark, worthy patron, were in the chairs for the session. During the business meeting group voted to contribute to "China Relief," a project of the worthy grand matrons.

INVITATION was read for all members to attend "Friendship Night" in the Mt. Sterling lodge on Tuesday, April 15, when local members will be guests of Mt. Sterling Eastern Star chapter.

Mrs. Reichelderfer named the refreshment committee to serve for the next meeting. This group includes, Mrs. Daisy Aord, Mrs. Virginia Bower, Mrs. Grace Foreman, Mrs. Lillian Hosler, Mrs. Maye Mahaffey, Mrs. Gene Meyers, Mrs. Hannah Noecker, Mrs. Joe Peters and Mrs. Oscar Ward.

THE REV. George Robertson, Mt. Sterling, was guest speaker. His selected topic was, "Peace of the Church". In concluding his inspirational address he read the poem "Church of My Dreams" by John M. Moore.

Refreshments were served in the chapter room which was decorated for the occasion in Spring flowers and ferns. Lace table cloth covered the table, centered with a bowl of yellow lilies flanked by tall green tapers in crystal holders.

Refreshment committee members included, Mrs. Donald Collins, Mrs. Everett Seeds, Mrs. Addie Squire, Mrs. Clara Swoyer, Mrs. A. H. Rogers, Mrs. Guy Cline, Mrs. Virginia Boyer, Mrs. Mae Borror and Mrs. Harry Sark.

Miss Hamman Honor Guest At Shower

Miss Mary Martha Hamman, Williamsport, bride-to-be of Roger Hitler May, route 1, Circleville, was guest of honor at a party given by Miss Dorothy Mossbarger, Columbus. The affair was a personal shower given in the home of the hostess' mother in New Holland.

Fifteen guests were invited with games forming the diversion of the afternoon. Hostess served a dessert course, from the diningroom table which was centered with a low bowl of pink snapdragons.

WSWS WILL MEET

Members of Woman's Society of World Service of the First Evangelical United Brethren church will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Porter Martin, route 3. Mrs. John Kerns will be leader of the evening's program. At this time the group will have installation of officers. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Frank Moats and Mrs. Ira Valentine.

Tired, "All-In"-Listless Feeling Brought To Halt

As Vibrant Energy is Released To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell
Do you get up in the morning still tired, feel down-and-out all day? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the red-blood-cells.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease. To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that 888 Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the 888 Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients. Also, 888 Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on 888 Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. 888 Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

JOHN P. JOY, MISS GRIM WED AT WILMINGTON

New Antioch church of Christ, Wilmington was the scene on Easter Sunday, April 6, of the wedding of Miss Marthajane Grim and John Paul Joy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Joy, Wilmington, former residents of Circleville. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Damon E. Grim, route 4, Wilmington.

Double ring ceremony was performed at 4 p. m. with the Rev. Clarence Swearingen pastor of First Methodist church, Circleville, officiating. Pink and white snapdragons, palms and green foliage flanked by two five branched candelabra decorated the altar. Bridal pathway was marked by white satin bows on the ends of each pew.

GIVEN in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Winter-white suit, toast colored brown straw hat, mulberry blouse and combined mulberry accessories. Four white gardenias were used in her shoulder corsage.

Miss Mildred Collingham, Wilmington, served as brides maid in a French blue suit with a white straw hat. Her flowers were pink rose buds. Jack White, Circleville, was best man and the ushers were James Brock and Jack Williams, both of Wilmington.

Mrs. Chester Hall, Mariemont, pianist, and Miss Dora B. Stauffer, Wilmington, soprano, presented a half hour of nuptial music preceding the wedding ceremony.

BRIDE'S parents were hosts for approximately 50 guests at their country home for a reception immediately following the wedding services. For the occasion the home was decorated in garden flowers, jonquils and snapdragons. Refreshments were served buffet style from the bride's table. Low crystal bowl filled with Easter lilies, sweet-peas and tulips formed the center arrangement of the table, flanked by three branched crystal holders bearing tall lighted tapers and a large three tiered wedding cake.

As the new Mr. and Mrs. Joy left for a wedding trip the bride donned a top coat of dark brown and light tan over her wedding suit.

The bride is a graduate of Wayne township high school, Clinton county, and has been a

SINGER ACCUSED OF ATTACK ON FILM EDITOR

Sinatra Said To Have Felled Lee Mortimer With Single Blow

HOLLYWOOD, April 9—Crooner Frank Sinatra, who in his pre-singing days yearned to be a prize fighter, felled Lee Mortimer, the New York Daily Mirror's motion picture editor, with a single blow early today on the steps of Ciro's Sunset Strip nightclub.

Mortimer filed a report with the Hollywood sheriff's substation and announced he would ask famed criminal lawyer Jerry Giesler to press a battery complaint against Sinatra.

In his sheriff's report, Mortimer charged Sinatra struck him from behind on the side of the head as he was leaving the nightclub with the Chinese chanteuse Kay Kimo.

Mortimer said three men with Sinatra then pinioned him while Sinatra rained more blows on him as he lay helpless.

Examination at West Hollywood emergency hospital showed Mortimer to be suffering from a swollen left ear, bruised cheek and wrenched wrist. X-rays were ordered taken of the injuries.

MORTIMER declared the medical report showed bruises on both wrists where he was held on the ground that his wrist watch was smashed.

Mortimer declared he was not even aware Sinatra was in the night club until he was struck.

The columnist said he had witnesses to support his assertion the attack was unprovoked and that Sinatra had struck him from behind, then pummeled him on the concrete floor while Sinatra's friends held him.

Mortimer said he was "just minding my own business when Sinatra struck me." Sinatra accused Mortimer, however, of insulting him. The singer said:

"He called me a Dago. I saw red and let him have it. I'm sorry now, though."

Mortimer denied he had called the singer a name. He declared the swoonmaster's one-blow attack was the result of a longstanding feud between him and Sinatra over things he had written concerning the singer's artistic ability and political inclinations.

Specifically, Mortimer charged Sinatra was smarting under charges in Mortimer's column that the singer had been chummy at Havana with Charles (Lucky) Luciano, the one-time New York vice boss who recently was banished from Cuba at the instigation of the U. S. government.

Mortimer told sheriff's deputies Sinatra "told me the next time he saw me he would kill me."

vided freedom for all, but particularly for their own opposition. This is sound philosophy because their individual freedom really could only be perpetuated by maintaining common freedom. Those who create the sword shall die by the sword.

The new dealers were always confused about freedom and they nearly extinguished it by strange and unnatural new interpretations in many lines against the terms. Dictatorship can capture this last stronghold of freedom by similar means, utilizing the framework of democracy to crush opposition and establish one party government.

Opinions expressed by the writer in the column are the views of the author and not necessarily those of the Cincinnati Herald.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

This was an expansion of constitutional freedom, a step designed to expand the original theory in the common interest.

Once we adopted an amendment prohibiting the use of alcoholic liquors. We thought man should not have the right to drink if he chooses. We later considered this a mistake after some experience and repealed that amendment.

Certainly that amendment was restrictive of individual liberty, moving in a direction opposite the suffrage amendment. Prohibition was a contraction of individual liberty, one we came to consider an unnatural one. The suffrage amendment was a liberalization of the original theory.

So I say until the professed liberals — the new dealers who have formed "Americans for the Democratic Action" — learn the meaning of the words liberalization and liberalism, their definitions will be just as confusing and vague as the recent pronouncement by their new group. (see yesterday's column). How can they define what they do not know? Until they learn, they can never be liberal.

The philosophy of the American system has been corrupted to an unbelievable extent in current thinking. The framers were particularly wary about freedom of press and religion. They did not say: "only those newspapers supporting the administration shall have newsprint." They did not say one type of newspaper knows it all. They recognized there would be opposition even to themselves then in charge of the government. They gave the opposition equal freedom. On religion, the philosophy of the constitution recognized there would be many sects, including whatever the various framers personally believed at the moment. They did not say one religion knows it all. They pro-

Mortimer said he was "just minding my own business when Sinatra struck me." Sinatra accused Mortimer, however, of insulting him. The singer said:

"He called me a Dago—I saw red and let him have it. I'm sorry now, though."

Mortimer denied he had called the singer a name. He declared the swoonmaster's one-blow attack was the result of a longstanding feud between him and Sinatra over things he had written concerning the singer's artistic ability and political inclinations.

Specifically, Mortimer charged Sinatra was smarting under charges in Mortimer's column that the singer had been chummy at Havana with Charles (Lucky) Luciano, the one-time New York vice boss who recently was banished from Cuba at the instigation of the U. S. government.

Mortimer told sheriff's deputies Sinatra "told me the next time he saw me he would kill me."

vided freedom for all, but particularly for their own opposition. This is sound philosophy because their individual freedom really could only be perpetuated by maintaining common freedom. Those who create the sword shall die by the sword.

The new dealers were always confused about freedom and they nearly extinguished it by strange and unnatural new interpretations in many lines against the simplest understanding of the terms. Dictatorship can capture this last stronghold of freedom by similar means, utilizing the framework of democracy to crush opposition and establish one party government.

YANKEY INDICTED FOR SLAYING AT GREENFIELD

HILLSBORO, O., April 9—Cecil Yankey, 39, Greenfield, the first person indicted for first degree murder in Highland county in eight years, waited in his jail cell today to be arraigned.

The grand jury returned the indictment at Hillsboro late yesterday. It charged that Yankey bludgeoned Leroy Woodland, 74, to death on March 20 while attempting to rob him. Yankey lived in Woodland's home.

Common Pleas Judge George McDowell indicated that six persons named in nine other indictments returned by the grand jury would be arraigned before further action is taken in Yankey's case.

Authorities said that Yankey signed a confession that he robbed and killed Woodland, but prosecutor Eugene Haine has not disclosed the contents of the confession.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

This was an expansion of constitutional freedom, a step designed to expand the original theory in the common interest. Once we adopted an amendment prohibiting the use of alcoholic liquors. We thought man should not have the right to drink if he chooses. We later considered this a mistake after some experience and repealed that amendment. Certainly that amendment was restrictive of individual liberty, moving in a direction opposite the suffrage amendment. Prohibition was a contraction of individual liberty, one we came to consider an unnatural one. The suffrage amendment was a liberalization of the original theory.

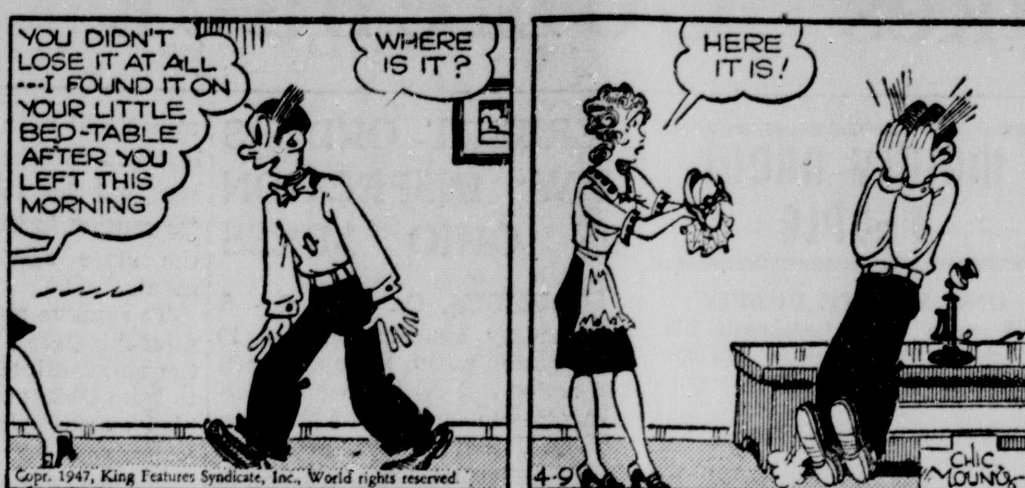

So I say until the professed liberals—the new dealers who have formed "Americans for Democratic Action"—learn the meaning of the words liberalization and liberalism, their definitions will be just as confusing and vague as the recent pronouncement by their new group. (see yesterday's column). How can they define what they do not know? Until they learn, they can never be liberal.

The philosophy of the American system has been corrupted to an unbelievable extent in current thinking. The framers were particularly wary about freedom of press and religion. They did not say: "only those newspapers supporting the administration shall have newsprint." They did not say one type of newspaper knows it all. They recognized there would be opposition even to themselves then in charge of the government. They gave the opposition equal freedom. On religion, the philosophy of the constitution recognized there would be many sects, including whatever the various framers personally believed at the moment. They did not say one religion knows it all. They pro-

OHIO WORKERS AWAITING WORD FROM CAPITAL

CLEVELAND, April 9 — Pickets resumed their steady march around Ohio Bell telephone buildings throughout the state today as both sides of the dispute turned attention to Washington for further developments.

T. W. Robertson, federal labor conciliator, reported that officials of the company and the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers were ready to meet at a moment's notice if necessary.

No violence was recorded as approximately 20,000 telephone workers left their jobs in their nationwide walkout.

Supervisors manning two main switchboards serving northern Ohio said they placed some 4,500 to 5,000 emergency calls in the area including Akron, Canton, Youngstown and Massillon. Many of the supervisory employees took up residence in company properties.

John A. Greene, Ohio Bell operating vice-president, said all contracts between the company and the Ohio Federation were cancelled by the strike.

Bicycle-Built-For-Two Makes Comeback On Local Market

MORE ADULTS INTERESTED IN BIKE RIDING

Tandem, Other Latest Models On Display Here. As Bicycling Grows

Arrival in Circleville of fifty new-type bicycles, particularly a tandem bicycle designed for use by man and wife, seemed to reflect Wednesday the increase in adult bicycling reported from many sections of the nation.

The boom in bicycling is generally believed an outgrowth of World War II and is attributed to a considerable extent to the shortage of new automobiles plus exorbitant prices for used cars. The new postwar model bicycles now obtainable from retail dealers in Circleville and elsewhere literally "have everything."

One peek at the classy tandem bicycle for man and wife, in the store of the A. and H. Tire company at 115 East Main street, will conjure visions of happy pedaling outings in the minds of many young and active couples.

This tandem is a maroon job with chrome trim, designed for the man to ride in front while the woman — as usual — occupies the back seat.

It is a one-speed bike, with the brakes operated from the handle-bar grips instead of by the pedals.

And the price of this attractive tandem? Only $139.

The coaster mechanism permits pedaling up hill and coasting down hill.

THERE ARE also several nifty models of single bicycles. Some have handle-bar grip brake devices, with the brake applied to the front wheel rim. One of the best models sells at $70.

Dealers said that while a lot of bicycles are of course still being sold for use by boys and girls, an outstanding feature of the prevalent swing to bicycling is the sale of bikes to adults in the Circleville area.

The Fabrician Bridge in Rome is a stone bridge joining Aesculapius Island with the left bank of the Tiber. It was built in 62 B. C. by Lucius Fabricius, and is the only bridge built during the Roman period that has lasted to this day.

LUMBER DEALERS PLAN MEETING AT CHILLICOTHE

Several lumber dealers in Circleville and Pickaway county are expected to attend a meeting of fellow lumber dealers of nearby counties Thursday night in the Warner hotel at Chillicothe. Counties to be represented include Ross, Highland, Fayette and Clinton.

The chief speaker will be Prof. R. C. Miller of the farm building department of the agricultural engineering college at Ohio State university. The meeting will be the first of a series sponsored by the Ohio Association of Retail Lumber Dealers for the major purpose of effecting reductions in construction costs of farm service buildings.

Although lumber and building material prices have advanced enormously since 1940 the advance in certain products has been much greater than in others and the association believes that studies leading to the utilization of locally grown lumber and of construction methods requiring less skilled labor such as the farmer can perform himself, will avoid deferment of much needed building.

Hope has been voiced that the series of meetings, to be opened at Chillicothe by Prof. Miller, will lead to a solution of many of the farmers' current building problems.

en turned to bicycling and, with the tremendous increase in motor car prices, many more adults swung to bikes as a means of transportation and pleasure.

BEFORE the war approximately one and one-half million bikes were produced annually in the United States and it has been estimated that fully 90 per cent of the total were sold to the juvenile market.

The bike manufacturers have announced that the 1947 production will be a record total of two million — and that a much larger percentage will be sold for adult use.

Also indicating the national movement toward pedaling, the Bicycle Institute of America has disclosed that 12 million bicycles are now in use throughout the nation as against only five million in 1935.

In many cities bike rental agencies are springing up. Bike manufacturers are showing a strong inclination to cater to adult riders rather than to juveniles. Gear-shift bicycles appeal more strongly to grownups. Some manufacturers are speeding the production of bicycles having two speed gears—with a three-speed model in the offing.

MODERN DEFENSE CONSIDERS THIS TOO!

★ With America more alert than ever to the need for conserving all resources, it is wise to weigh the hazards of lightning against the modest cost of thoroughly reliable protection.

Lightning can—and often enough does—cause practically total loss of buildings. It can cause temporary plant shutdowns. Now and then it even takes lives.

Lightning is unpredictable. You never know when it will strike, or with what results. Only two things are certain: Lightning starts more fires than almost any other source (records of the National Board of Fire Underwriters' prove it), and a West Dodd installation provides a thoroughly reliable safeguard. The sense of security alone is well worth the cost.

West Dodd is the oldest name in lightning protection. Its materials and methods of installation are approved by the National Board of Underwriters, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. They are being widely used on National Defense projects such as powder magazines, ammunition loading lines and igloos.

Why not at least investigate West Dodd Systems? Details on request.

The coaster mechanism permits pedaling up hill and coasting down hill.

THERE ARE also several nifty models of single bicycles. Some have handle-bar grip brake devices, with the brake applied to the front wheel rim. One of the best models sells at $70.

Dealers said that while a lot of bicycles are of course still being sold for use by boys and girls, an outstanding feature of the prevalent swing to bicycling is the sale of bikes to adults in the Circleville area.

During the wartime gasoline rationing a lot of men and women turned to bicycling and, with the tremendous increase in motor car prices, many more adults swung to bikes as a means of transportation and pleasure.

BEFORE the war approximately one and one-half million bikes were produced annually in the United States and it has been estimated that fully 90 per cent of the total were sold to the juvenile market.

The bike manufacturers have announced that the 1947 production will be a record total of two million — and that a much larger percentage will be sold for adult use.

Also indicating the national movement toward pedaling, the Bicycle Institute of America has disclosed that 12 million bicycles are now in use throughout the nation as against only five million in 1935.

In many cities bike rental agencies are springing up. Bike manufacturers are showing a strong inclination to cater to adult riders rather than to juveniles. Gear-shift bicycles appeal more strongly to grownups. Some manufacturers are speeding the production of bicycles having two speed gears—with a three-speed model in the offing.

LUMBER DEALERS PLAN MEETING AT CHILLICOTHE

Several lumber dealers in Circleville and Pickaway county are expected to attend a meeting of fellow lumber dealers of nearby counties Thursday night in the Warner hotel at Chillicothe. Counties to be represented include Ross, Highland, Fayette and Clinton.

The chief speaker will be Prof. R. C. Miller of the farm building department of the agricultural engineering college at Ohio State university. The meeting will be the first of a series sponsored by the Ohio Association of Retail Lumber Dealers for the major purpose of effecting reductions in construction costs of farm service buildings.

Although lumber and building material prices have advanced enormously since 1940 the advance in certain products has been much greater than in others and the association believes that studies leading to the utilization of locally grown lumber and of construction methods requiring less skilled labor such as the farmer can perform himself, will avoid deferment of much needed building.

Hope has been voiced that the series of meetings, to be opened at Chillicothe by Prof. Miller, will lead to a solution of many of the farmers' current building problems.

Phooey to Curfew!

Vivian Kellems

CONNECTICUT'S curfew — which prohibits women working in a factory after 10 p. m. — is "a mouldy old law," according to Vivian Kellems, business executive, who is putting on a feminine swing shift at her Saugatuck plant in defiance of the statute, with the hope the current session of Connecticut's legislature will repeal the law. Her test-case workers will come from all walks of life including a number of notables. (International)

HERBERT ORDERS NEW INSPECTION OF OHIO MINES

COLUMBUS, O., April 9—A new safety examination of 19 Ohio mines which have not been under federal control was ordered by Governor Herbert Monday. John Robert Jones, secretary to the governor, said he believed all of the mines were now operating. However, they were listed in a letter from secretary of the interior J. A. Krug as not quite meeting federal safety specifications.

Jones pointed out that all 19 mines had been inspected in the last two months by Ohio inspectors, but that there seemed to be "a conflict in the safety laws" of the state and federal governments.

To remove any doubt as to the mines' safety Herbert ordered the re-examination of the mines to keep Ohio's coal production as high as possible.

ISALY'S

With America more alert than ever to the need for conserving all resources, it is wise to weigh the hazards of lightning against the modest cost of thoroughly reliable protection.

Lightning can—and often enough does—cause practically total loss of buildings. It can cause temporary plant shutdowns. Now and then it even takes lives.

Lightning is unpredictable. You never know when it will strike, or with what results. Only two things are certain: Lightning starts more fires than almost any other source (records of the National Board of Fire Underwriters' prove it), and a West Dadd installation provides a thoroughly reliable safeguard. The sense of security alone is well worth the cost.

West Dadd is the oldest name in lightning protection. Its materials and methods of installation are approved by the National Board of Underwriters, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. They are being widely used on National Defense projects such as powder magazines, ammunition loading lines and igloos.

Why not at least investigate West Dadd Systems? Details on request.
